Pre-amble

Poland is one of the major importers of Leather & Leather products in the East European Region. The import of leather and leather products by Poland has been increasing steadily in recent years from US $1641.04 million in 2008 to US $1772.53 million in 2012. After joining the European Union in 2004, the country is being viewed as main connecting point for Western and Eastern Europe on account of its strategic geographic location.

India’s export of leather and leather products to Poland increased from US $41.93 Million in 2008-09 to US $61.56 million in 2013-14. Leather Footwear is a major export item from India with a share of about 66% followed by Leather goods, which contribute about 20% of share in the Polish market. This signifies that there is an increasing scope for enhancing our share in the country.

Considering the market potential, the Council decided to participate in the BTS Fair of Shoes, Leather and Leather Goods Fair, Poznan, Sep 2014 as per approved action plan of the Department of Commerce with a view to enhance the exports of Leather and Leather Products in to Poland.

Poland - Europe’s Most Dynamic Economy

Poland, with a population of over 38.5 million inhabitants, is the largest member of the European Union among all the countries of Central and Eastern Europe. Poland is set to outperform the European Union’s largest post-communist members this year and in 2015, according to a spring forecast by the European Commission.

In terms of gross domestic product (GDP), Poland is the 9th biggest economy in the EU. The Polish economy is set to double its pace of growth, according to the European Commission, which predicts GDP will rise 3.2 percent in 2014 and 3.4 percent in 2015 after last year’s 1.6 percent expansion. The below graphs provide a graphical representation of the increasing GDP over the years and the future.

Poland has a resilient economy with balanced economic growth, floating exchange rate, stable current account balance, flexible labor market, well-capitalized banking sector and public investments macroeconomic policy for maintaining low inflation as well as moderate, stable growth, making it eligible for a €105.8 billion of the EU budget.

Poland is less dependent on external trade than most other Central and Eastern European countries, but its volume of trade with Europe is still substantial. In 2011, the volume of trade (exports plus imports) with the Euro area as share of GDP was 40%, a doubling from the mid 1990s. 30% of Poland’s exports are to Germany and another 30% to the rest of Europe.

Despite its GDP growth, Poland faces numerous economic issues; it has chronic high unemployment, low wages despite significant increase of productivity, massive flight of educated population abroad, and low level of innovativeness and highest percentage of people working for national minimum wage among countries of European Union.

Nevertheless, Poland has taken steps to restore fiscal discipline despite a challenging economic environment. Polish economy has a large internal economy, a business-friendly political class, and the hyper charged potential of a developing country catching up with its western peers that makes it stands out as an unlikely island of economic success, a place where companies and individuals plan for growth rather than decline.

The priority export sectors of Poland are: Food and Live animals, furniture, light Industry, leather, cosmetic, Pharmaceutical products, medical equipments, machine tools Windows and doors etc.

Overview of Indo-Polish Relations:

Poland is an interesting country for India because it is now an EU member and a springboard as well as entry point for the larger combined EU market. Indo-Polish relationship has been characterized by goodwill and cooperation for more than 60 years. The trade between the two countries aims to promote entrepreneurship and facilitate industrial growth as trade and industry form an integral part of economic development of the country. Poland is a magnet for businesses looking for a base to get products made cheaply and reliably.

As far leather trade is concerned, India’s share is 2.23 % of the import of Leather and Leather products by Poland. The bilateral trade between two countries has grown about eleven times from 1992 to 2008. In 2013, bilateral trade for the next consecutive year was close to 2 billion US$.

An analysis of Poland’s import of Leather and Leather Products shows that the overall import has consistently increased in the past five years, with finished leather, leather and non-leather footwear being the major import items. India’s export of Leather and Leather Products to Poland is less than US$ 62 million and hence there is a wide scope for further enhancing our market share in this country.
